

Mrs. Lillie Davis, mother of Warren T. Davis, was taken ill last Sunday morning immediately after breakfast while doing her morning work. It was hoped for a short while that it was not a serious illness but she was soon unconscious at at 11:45 o'clock a. m., passed away. Her health was apparently exceptionally. There was no reason to suspect such a sudden taking away. She has long been a consistent member of the Methodist Church and one who will be missed more than most women. 7/9/20 (NR)
