

In Memory of Mrs. Myrtle Gormon.

On Tuesday evening April 2, 1912, the death angel visited the home of Mr. Robert Gormon of Meadow Fork, and called away his wife. Mrs. Gormon had been in poor health for several months, though her death was a surprise to all the community, as the news of her being serious had hardly gone out until that of her death came.

Her remains were interred at Meadow Fork cemetery on Wednesday following. Rev. Mr. Plemmons conducting the funeral rites.

Among her last words she spoke of her home in the great beyond; that owing to her poor health she did not crave to live and was ready and willing for the end to come. She always bore her suffering so patiently, always speaking of the right, ever wishing that her children might attend church and Sunday school and become true christians
